S071080 Thomas M. Thompson et al., Respondents

v.

Department of Corrections et al., Appellants

Thomas M. Thompson was executed on July 14, 1998. The issues presented in this matter, however, do not concern Thompson's guilt or innocence, or whether he should have been executed, but rather present important and potentially recurring questions of law which are likely to arise in other contexts, yet evade review. (See Alfredo A. v. Superior Court (1994) 6 Cal.4th 1212, 1219.) In addition, the Reverend Margaret Harrell, who joined Thompson in filing the petition for injunctive relief in this matter, is still a party. Therefore, notwithstanding Thompson's execution and his having received the relief requested in these proceedings, counsel of record for the parties are to submit briefs in this matter, as provided in rule 29.3, California Rules of Court. The briefs should address whether this court has exclusive jurisdiction to hear an appeal by the Department of Corrections from a preliminary injunction regulating the time and circumstances under which a condemned inmate may meet with a spiritual advisor in the hours before execution, and should also address the merits of the appeal by the Department of Corrections from the preliminary injunction issued in this case by the Marin County Superior Court.
